Square Resources Holdings Pte. Ltd. has partnered with Indonesia Indah Foundation to educate and empower people in Indonesia to become agents of change for the environment.

As part of its corporate social responsibility program, Square Resources Holdings Pte Ltd. has partnered with Indonesian non-profit organization, Indonesia Indah Foundation (IIF), that works towards making Indonesia more environmentally sustainable through education, awareness, conservation, and disaster relief programs.

Square Resources Holdings Pte Ltd has been involved in activities organized by IIF since 2019, when the company first started supporting Hari Bersih Indonesia, IIF's annual national-scale clean-up day to raise awareness to the littering and waste problem in Indonesia.

"IIF does a fantastic job at grassroots level to leverage their limited resources and have a real impact on the environment," said Staffan Ever, Managing Director of Square Resources Holdings. "We are very proud to be associated with such a fantastic organisation and have with great pleasure been following their growth and increased impact."

Indonesia Indah Foundation is founded by Angela Jelita Richardson, who launched this sustainable foundation with a commitment to educate people in Indonesia on environmental sustainability. Richardson is thrilled to welcome Square Resources Holdings Pte Ltd as its Foundation Partner:

"We are excited to have Square Resources Holdings expand their support of our work in Indonesia," Richardson says. "Their support will be helping us grow our education program, with a focus on ocean conservation; will help us reach our target of planting 100,000 mangrove trees this year; will ensure we can continue to grow our national clean-up day, raising awareness to the need to reduce our waste impact all over the nation; as well as support communities in need of disaster relief."

Since the Covid-19 pandemic started, IIF hosts regular webinars and live streaming events to continue to educate and provide the framework to inspire people to become agents of change for the environment, whilst ensuring the health and safety of its participants. Square Resources Holdings will also be supporting these virtual events through this partnership.
